New Auto Sales Soar

Optimism Spurred by Business Improvement

NEW YORK (AP)—Economists and industrialists raised their sights during the week on the expected extent of the business recovery. Improvement in personal incomes, factory sales, steel production and automobile sales spurred the optimism.

"The regenerative forces on the economy are being restored and strengthened," said Walter H. Heller, chief economic adviser to President Kennedy.

He asserted that any doubt about a brightening of the business picture disappeared with a 2½ per cent advance in the industrial production index from March to April.

And he predicted the country's output of goods and services will rise $25 billion by the end of the year from the January-March rate. This would boost it to about $325 billion for the year.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges pointed to the advances in personal incomes and manufacturers' sales in April as new signs of recovery.

The economy "is not kicking at the roof but it is out of the cellar," he said.

Because his advisers believe the recovery is solidly based, President Kennedy has decided against any huge spending program or income tax cuts to hasten the resurgence. However, he did release $818 million in federal highway funds six weeks ahead of schedule in an effort to speed up road building.

John Dykstra, president of Ford Motor Co., said the prospects for the nation's economy and the automobile industry are much brighter now than during the first quarter.

The new car sales rate for the first 10 days of May showed a 14 per cent gain over the first third of April. Dealers sold 165,632 domestic cars, compared with 128,864 in the April period.

Production for the week was estimated at 128,945 passenger cars, a slight decline from the previous week's 129,530 but enough to put the year's output over the two-million mark.

T. F. Patton, president of Republic Steel Corp., predicted that

JFK-Nikita Parley May Be 1st of Series

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's meeting with Premier Khrushchev at Vienna next month may be the first of a series of U.S.-Soviet summit level talks extending over the years of the Kennedy administration.

How the relationship between the two men develops will depend much on the impressions they make upon each other in their conference in the Austrian capital, June 3 and 4. But it is already apparent that Kennedy's whole approach to talking with Khrushchev is quite different from that which has prevailed in other U. S. administrations since World War II.

The central element in Kennedy's attitude appears to be a conviction that top level talks with the leader of the Communist bloc are desirable and may be useful in easing East-West tensions provided the atmosphere in which they are held is reasonably favorable to calm discussion of outstanding world issues. Some administration officials now say that such meetings should be regarded as normal and should be considered worthwhile even if they fail to produce spectacular positive results.

Already there is speculation in diplomatic quarters that if the Vienna discussions go smoothly Khrushchev may invite Kennedy to visit the Soviet Union. The center of this speculation is Geneva where Secretary of State Dean Rusk met Friday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The two foreign ministers talked over plans for the Vienna meeting as well as the problem of Laos, which is the subject of a 14-nation conference at Geneva. The substance of their exchange was not disclosed but press dispatches quoted diplomatic sources at Geneva as pointing out that Khrushchev visited the United States in September 1959 and owes an invitation to an American president to visit the Soviet Union.

During most of the Eisenhower administration the former president and the late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, resisted summit conferences pressures on the ground there must first be assurance of positive agreement least failure to reach agreement at the summit should increase East-West tension.

President Harry S. Truman had met with dictator Joseph Stalin at Berlin at the end of the war in Europe but during the rest of the Truman administration there was no enthusiasm in Washington for further summit sessions.

Eisenhower later modified his own position and the policies which he and Dulles had worked out toward a summit conference in the summer of 1959 in part at least as a result of Khrushchev's threats and pressures to change the status of West Berlin. Having met the Soviet premier in the 1955 summit conference at Geneva, Eisenhower invited him to visit the United States. The two men conferred at Camp David, Md., with the result that Khrushchev shelved for a while his threats against Berlin. Eisenhower agreed to a formal summit conference at Paris.

The Paris summit a year ago this month collapsed at the outset when Khrushchev turned a torrent of abuse against Eisenhower and branded him a false friend because of the U2 spy plane incident two weeks earlier.

Cautious About Confab Results

World Hopes for Easing of Tension

LONDON (AP) — The world hoped today the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Austria two weeks from now would ease international tension. But there was caution, about expecting any momentous results.

"It's the Vienna Waltz," said the conservative London Daily Sketch over a cartoon showing the U. S. President and the Soviet premier dancing together.

India's philosopher-statesman, Vice President Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan, said the future of humanity is at stake in these crucial times.

"One of our ancient scriptures tells us that when danger is near, salvation also is near," he said in a New Delhi banquet speech that put the moral support of his neutral nation behind the coming meeting.

He spoke at a state dinner for visiting U. S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home told reporters that to meet Kennedy "is a salutary experience for anybody, and we hope very much that good will come out of this meeting."

Kennedy will call at London for talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan after his meeting with Khrushchev June 3-4.

There was no direct comment from French President Charles de Gaulle. Members of his official family said he had neither any objections nor any enthusiasm for the meeting. Kennedy will meet with De Gaulle in Paris and go directly from these talks to see Khrushchev.

The government press bureau in Bonn said West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer welcomes the meeting and thinks Khrushchev and Kennedy should get to know one another personally.

The Japanese foreign office also approved of the summit meeting as a chance to slacken world tension.

A Yugoslav spokesman said the Tito government hopes the conference will contribute to peace and better cooperation.

The British press unanimously applauded the meeting plan. The London Daily Express said the gap since an American and a Soviet leader last met has been too long and unprofitable.

The public is invited to attend the program Sunday afternoon at 3 in the Senior High School gymnasium celebrating the American Field Service Committee's first year of operation in Salem.

Nationality groups from the city will take part in the program and Miss Halle Gade Jensen, the Danish student who has spent the past year in Salem as a senior at Salem High School, will speak briefly.

Entertainment also will include selections by the Salem High School Chorus.

Miss Jensen has made her home during the past year with Dr. and Mrs. Donald Lease of Highland Ave. Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Lehwald will be the "parents" for an exchange student here during the 1961-62 school term.

Miss Jensen was brought here through the efforts of the American Field Service, with the cooperation of the Salem High Student Council.

A group of high school students will make a house-to-house canvass Monday afternoon to solicit memberships in the AFS to help underwrite the program for the second year.

French, Algerians Open Peace Talks

VIENNA (AP)—France and the Algerian rebels opened peace talks today and the De Gaulle government made two side conciliatory gestures.

1. French forces in Algeria were ordered to cease at 6 p.m. all offensive operations against the rebels they have been fighting for almost seven years.

2. Algerian rebel chieftain Ahmed ben Bella was flown from fortress prison the Ile d'Aix to a site closer to the peace talks in this Lake Geneva resort city.

It was reported from Algeria that word had already been passed to the 500,000 soldiers in the territory to fire only in self defense. It was understood that patrols would continue in the territory, but only for reconnaissance purposes.

Paris said that its cease-fire orders would remain in effect for a month and would then be reconsidered in the light of developments at the peace talks. While the cease-fire order barred offensive actions, it did not bar the pursuit of rebels making attacks themselves.

Ben Bella was taken off the island in the Bay of Biscay by helicopter along with his companions, Hocine and Mohamed Khider. All three men had been seized in 1956 when their Moroccan airliner en route to Tunisia was intercepted by French fighter planes over the Mediterranean and forced to land at Algiers.

The improved conditions ordered for the three men will allow them to contact the rebel delegation in Geneva by telephone. At some later stage Ben Bella may also be allowed to sit in on the peace talks.

Three other imprisoned rebel leaders were also taken from Fresnes Prison in Paris this morning.

The long awaited peace negotiations opened here in a seclude hotel guarded by hundreds of heavily armed policemen.

The initial session lasted an hour and 40 minutes. The only announcement made by either side afterward was that the next meeting would be held here Tuesday.

There was a stir in Paris during the noon hour when the cable linking Evian and the capital failed. There was immediate fear of bomb sabotage but the cable was restored 45 minutes later and Evian reported all calm. There was no explanation why the cable failed.

Facing one another across the table were the Algerian nationalist foreign minister, Krim Belkaid.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How to Make Good Things Happen

We had finished a good dinner and were chatting in the apartment of my friend Judson Sayre 25 stories above Chicago's fabulous Lake Shore Drive. The huge picture windows opened upon a magnificent panorama of Lake Michigan, the drive and the glimmer of my friend Judson Sayre singing some problems on the agenda for the next day.

"Well, I hope you will have a good day," I said.

"Don't worry, I will," he confidently asserted.

"You will, eh? How do you know ... How come you're so certain?"

His answer struck my mind with a powerful impact. He said, "With God's help I make good things happen every day."

When I first met Jud Sayre we were undergraduates at Ohio Wesleyan University. He came from what we used to call a "one-horse Ohio town" — and so did I. His family always had to scrimp for money and so did mine. It was the frequent experience in our young lives to be down to the bottom dollar. But nevertheless I had never seen a boy with any more on the ball. There was something about Jud that impressed and attracted me even then, and we have been devoted friends ever since.

"YOU SURE HAVE come along way," I said. "Back at Ohio Wesleyan did you ever think you would live in a swanky lay-out like this?"

"Sure I did. I made up my mind I was going to. I wanted to do something in the world — and you can if you think you can!"

"How did you ever manage to accomplish so much?" I asked.

"How did you get so far ahead of me?"

"Come with me and I will show you." And taking me into his bathroom, he pointed to a shaving mirror. "Each morning while shaving I look at my face in that mirror and say out loud: 'With God's help I am going to make great things happen today.'"

His confidence fascinated me — the more so since his formula for accomplishment jibes excitingly with a plan I have used increasingly in my own experience. I am convinced that an entire day is conditioned to a large extent by how you begin it. Elbert Hubbard said that if you remain placid until 10 a.m. you are likely to get through the remainder of the day pleasantly. Naturally, some days are bound to be harder than others. Inevitably some will be very difficult and some may even bring pain or sadness. But to the person with a creative viewpoint even those tough days can be good ones. We learn much and grow stronger through suffering and difficulty. By always taking a positive attitude toward each day, you can make good days out of bad days.

PERSONALLY, I use a self-conditioning technique each morning before getting out of bed, which you may want to try. As soon as I wake up I repeat a line from Psalm 139: "When I awake, I am still with Thee." These words will remind you that God who has watched over you all night long will still be with you all day too.

Then I repeat a verse from the 118th Psalm. "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." This affirmation really helps in many ways.

For example, maybe the sky is overcast, the weather blustery with high winds and heavy rain. We are all affected by the moods of nature. But you can rise above them, and above discouragement, or any other negative mood of human nature, by realizing that once more you have this wonderful opportunity called a day. Don't let it go bad on you. You can do good things with it. You can make much of it.

And then just before getting up and getting at it, I offer a little prayer: "Lord, help me do my best today; give me a good day. Help me to make it a good day for others."

It is a wonderful way of starting the day. Try it tomorrow morning and you can "with God's help, make good things happen every day."

Stop Short of That First Step

The legislative strategy for the federal breakthrough into public education now has jelled.

Previous plans for the breakthrough were thrown into confusion when authoritative Catholic spokesmen announced they would oppose federal aid unless it embodied aid for their schools as well as public schools.

That made it apparent that the House of Representatives and the Senate would have to abandon the proposal, because as a matter of politics the United States obviously was not ready to assume any part of the support of parochial schools — Catholic or any other religious denomination.

The alternative was to separate the original issue from the issue that had been compounded by the Catholic spokesmen when they insisted on parochial school support. This has been done. There will be two bills.

Legislators will not have to settle the issue of parochial school support at the same time they settle the issue of federal aid to public schools. They will vote on the latter proposition first.

THIS IN ITSELF is a kind of trick to make legislators believe they are being given a happy alternative. Instead of being forced to vote on an issue that would be political dynamite, they are being let off easy.

All they will have to do now is vote to take away enough money from school districts already doing a first-class job in public education to spread a thin coating of federal aid over districts still in the shirt-tail-out stage of educational neglect. Many of these in southern states have been trying to support two school systems, one for whites, one for Negroes, and not doing a decent job on either one.

Is the time at hand when Americans must share educational poverty? Has the effort to keep at least one thing out of the hands of federal fixers and wheelers and edict-issuers failed?

Let no one imagine if the first step is taken and local responsibility is watered down, with the result that everybody must run to Washington or put in a call for his representative and his senators to twist an arm in the right direction, that the second step won't follow — and a third — and a fourth. Eventually, full federal control would go with the federal purse, as it always does.

THE POSITION of the Catholic spokesmen when they blew the lid off the issue by demanding equal rights for parochial school pupils was that federal school money belonged to everybody if it belonged to anybody. Getting it would be, most assuredly, the second step in federal school aid.

The third step would be local surrender to the dominant taxing power. Support for local levies to finance schools would disappear. Nothing could be done until federal money had been obtained.

The fourth step would be federal control of school curriculums and eventually applicants for school-teaching jobs would be standing in line with applicants for federal grants, loans and federal scholarships for deserving students.

All students, of course, are deserving, but once let the federal government start handing out scholarships and some students will be more deserving than others — the ones whose fathers and mothers can flash credentials from the political boss back home.

Birds, Bees and Presidents

Whether Sherman Adams cleared the copy for his memoirs with Dwight D. Eisenhower is uncertain. But when the former White House aide in the Eisenhower administration describes the disenchantment of his chief after the 1952 "crusade," the account is too credible to permit uncertainty.

Gen. Eisenhower was given the Republican nomination in 1952 because he was a probable winner; the Democratic party had wanted to give him its nomination for the same reason. Everybody knew at the time that the Eisenhower ideas could not be squared readily with traditional Republicanism. The candidate favored by traditionalists was Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft, who was pushed aside by the eastern boom for the likely winner. Sen. Taft, it was pointed out by his detractors, was not a likely winner — a slur that hurt him and his backers.

It was inevitable under these circumstances that sooner or later Dwight Eisenhower would undergo a certain amount of disenchantment about the circumstances of his political position. This now becomes an interesting part of the Adams memoirs. The chief White House aide was in the best possible place to witness what happened.

BUT BEFORE too many hard and fast conclusions are reached by people over-anxious to reach them for partisan disparagement, there is this to be said about President Eisenhower's disagreements with Republican conservatives and his disappointment because the crusading spirit of so many young citizens was sidetracked after 1952.

All presidents learn about the partisan birds and bees, including the one currently in the White House. It began with George Washington, another general who knew little about partisanship and cared less.

It even has had its effect on the partisan presidents—professional politicians like Harry Truman. William McKinley spoke about it, deploring the fact that a president must become the spokesman for the people who put him in office and ceases in large part to be his own man.

The details of the disenchantment always are different, but the impact is always the same.

THE PRESIDENT of the United States is the storm center of all the pulling and hauling that characterize government in the United States.

No one can hope to escape it—not even military heroes who think they deserve better from the country they served and the people who helped elevate them to the presidency as recognition for their service.

The Adams memoirs will not tell an unique story but a typical story that has been told after every presidential administration. The latest chapter is being written now in the notes being kept conscientiously by whatever insider is hopeful of setting down the blow-by-blow account of John F. Kennedy's acquaintanceship with the birds and bees of presidential politics.

Once Over

Included in Washington governmental operations there must be a big staff of bag packers Cabinet needs a secretary of map studies to keep track of what country American officials are in.

Modern definition of word "Cabinet" is: A group of top public officials dedicated to modernization of Gulliver's Travels; assistants to the President whose duty it is to avoid being in the United States for anything but brief periods; men who are obligated to seem comfortable in Seven League Boots.

With Vice President Johnson in Thailand, Secretary Rusk in Bangkok, Oslo or Geneva and President Kennedy in Canada, Paris or even Moscow, daily question in Washington is "Who's minding the store?"

Life for our officials is one jet after another. Secretary of state is almost a foreign resident. They all look pretty weary and should be on TV instead of baseball stars pleading for a "bread that builds health 12 ways." (They might be satisfied with 11.)

It used to be comforting to be sure the President was regular White House occupant and that it was his genuine address. But he is Man in Motion. The letter carrier lost him long ago. Same goes for his Cabinet. It is all for best but we wish for old days when we could imagine no signs on national leaders doors reading "Out of America. Returning Sooner or Later."

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

In the name of the United States Arthur Goldberg secretary of labor, has gone into court to force a corporation and a private detective agency, dealing in labor relations, to make public their intimate money dealings.

If Mr. Goldberg succeeds he'll set a precedent which could affect literally a million firms doing nationwide business — even if they don't hire such an agency but do retain the garden variety labor-public relations advisors.

These the government people refer to as the "middleman" in employers' dealings with their workers and their unions.

This action began when the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports discovered that the Olson Rug Co. of Chicago and the Illinois State Detective Agency Inc., which have been associated for many decades, have not filed any reports. This is required, says the government, under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

THE GOVERNMENT contends, in effect, that the private-eye agency sent men into the rug plant to report on the activities of the Textile Workers Union, workers' attitudes towards the union and its secret bargaining strategy.

As the story unravels, the detective agency sent four men into the plant. They worked in the mill fairly regularly. One seemed so devoted to labor that he was chosen by the rank-and-file to sit as a member of the workers' bargaining committee.

The union's chief, William Pollock, has charged that all information obtained by the undercover men found its way back to company officials. Thus there were no union strategy secrets.

Olson Rug Co. executives retorted that they've dealt with the detective agency for over a quarter of a century. They asserted that the operatives really were there to see that there was no wastage, say, of yarn, or damage to machinery. They denied spying on the union.

The Bureau of Labor-Management Reports, under Commissioner John Holcombe, said that for the moment all this was academic. What Holcombe wanted was full reports from the firm and the detectives on their activity. And he quoted the proper section of the new law.

Both the rug firm and the detective agency stated they were not covered by the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959. They refused to fill out the forms.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, speedy in making good on some campaign pledges, is not backing up his promise to promptly offer and fight for a broad civil rights program.

Before he was elected, he was all for new civil rights legislation in a hurry. Now, after almost four months in office, he sees no need for speed.

Last September he promised to make a bill "embodying all the pledges of the Democratic platform" on civil rights a "first order of business" when he took office. He named two Democrats to prepare it.

This week these two—Sen. Joseph S. Clark (Pa) and Rep. Emanuel Celler (NY) — offered their civil rights package in Congress.

What was the administration's reaction?

White House news secretary Pierre Salinger said recently the Clark-Celler offerings "are not administration-backed bills." He said the measures were "introduced by them and are their bills."

Salinger said Kennedy had made clear that "he does not consider it necessary at this time to enact new civil rights legislation." He added that Kennedy's position has been to exercise all possibilities under legislation already on the books and to employ powers which the executive department possesses.

The fact that the administration didn't push for new civil rights laws so far this year must have had a pacifying effect on Southern Democrats in Congress where Kennedy hasn't had too much trouble getting his other programs through up till now.

In a Congress as conservative as this one, antagonized Southerners—teaming up with conservative Republicans—could have done a wrecking job on Kennedy programs awaiting congressional action. If he came out now for powerful civil rights proposals, and really fought for them, those other programs could get royally fouled-up by the Southerners' war on civil rights.

Yet, this is what Kennedy said last Sept. 9 in Los Angeles when he was campaigning for the presidency:

"The president must give us the legal weapons needed to enforce the constitutional rights of every American. He must draft the programs — transmit them to Congress and fight for their enactment, taking his case to the people if Congress is slow-acting."

"Much legislation is needed. We must continually strengthen the legal framework which will allow us to move toward economic, educational and political equality."

"Such legislation is already being prepared. I have asked Sen. Clark and Congressman Celler to prepare a bill embodying all the pledges of the Democratic platform, and that bill will be among the first orders of business when a new Congress meets in January."

These promises got a lot of attention at the time, particularly when the Democrats were seeking the Negro vote in the large Northern cities. But to date the administration has not backed any civil rights program.

Integration Hypocrisy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Few Negroes Invited to Washington Parties

An agitation started by spokesmen for the Kennedy administration is stirring up quite a controversy not only over the admission of Negroes to private clubs but their inclusion at cocktail parties and dinners in private homes.

The idea of token participation seems to have been rejected as unsatisfactory by many advocates of integration, the argument being that to select a few is a kind of hypocrisy and that full participation on the basis of the proportion to population is much more equitable.

About 54 per cent of the population of the national capital is Negro, so it is being argued that there must be equality and that a failure to provide an equal number of Negroes at cocktail parties and at official as well as private dinners is a form of discrimination.

Two members of the Kennedy Cabinet have spoken out on the subject of admission of Negroes to private clubs but there has been no indication from them as to the quantitative formula to be used in determining how many should be admitted. Or is there any clarification as yet as to what the Kennedy administration intends to do to coerce the private clubs to do its bidding. Taking away tax exemptions is one device often mentioned.

The public discussion was started by Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg. Mr. Kennedy in a television interview spoke of private clubs here that do not admit Negroes, and added:

"And, as I say, if we're going to practice what we preach we're going to have to take steps forward in all sections of the United States."

Secretary Goldberg, in a public address recently in New York, said: "I find it difficult to understand why, in the houses I have frequented socially, the dinner parties, the cocktail parties, I have rarely seen Negroes as guests."

"This is particularly marked among intellectuals and liberals in our large cities, particularly in New York City and Chicago. Are there no Negro writers, composers, artists, academicians with whom one can break bread, with whom one can engage in intellectual discourse?"

THERE ARE, of course, many of us, irrespective of race or creed or color, who are never able to engage in intellectual discourse anyway, but, assuming that there are a fortunate few who can do so, the question arises as to what the administration here has to do with it.

The Supreme Court of the United States in recent decisions has upheld freedom of association for individuals, but this was in a case involving alleged Communists, rather than non-Communists, so perhaps it doesn't apply to everybody.

Maybe the first thing to do is to get the facts. If there be inside the Kennedy administration many officials who are capable of engaging in "intellectual discourse," then indeed it might be asked whether lately they have been inviting any Negro couples to their cocktail parties and dinners.

So far as is known, the times that Negroes are prominent in official functions are rare—usually only when ambassadors from African nations are being entertained.

Certainly no one has heard of an equal number of Negroes and white being present at any official dinners and receptions to which the general public have been invited.

MANY OFFICIAL functions have been held in Washington recently at which no Negroes were present. In political — campaign years, there are some, of course.

Political dinners by the Republicans have for decades included some of the Negro politicians and their wives. Only in more recent times have the Democrats in the North done the same. But, as far as is known, the Kennedy administration has not invited any quotas of Negroes for cocktail parties or dinners, though it could be that no functions have been held as yet at which "Negro writers, composers, artists, academicians" could find anyone with whom they could engage in "intellectual discourse."

What's needed around Washington, to be sure, are some standards and formulas to take care of the weighty problem of the invitation lists for dinners and cocktail parties — there doesn't seem to be enough worries to go around besides Laos and Cuba.

Deep Thoughts Down Under

By TRUMAN TWILL

Reuters, the news service, has gone to some pains to tell about deep thoughts Australian sheep ranchers are having on the high death rate among new-born lambs.

They have concluded they would make more money if more lambs could be kept alive. This is the kind of news that makes a fellow glad his mother taught him to read. These Aussies are really using their heads.

Reuters believes in doing its reporting in depth. The Australian ranchers have put their finger on two main causes of lamb mortality — cold weather and indifferent mothers. Other causes, such as being killed by wild dogs and dying of starvation, also are mentioned.

You know what they are beginning to think? That if the lambs could be kept warm and given more to eat they wouldn't die in such large numbers — about one out of five.

Those fellows should see rancher Truman Twill kicking gates and thumping doors with his fist when he loses one lamb out of 10. They should hear him sob in the night and get a load of some of the bright purple talk he grinds out of his clenched teeth every time a little stranger doesn't make it.

There's a vast difference between herding hundreds of thousands of sheep on open ranges and taking care of a couple dozen in a snug barn with infra-red lamps and space heaters. But on a laboratory scale, a little old week-end sheepman might learn a few things that could help a full-time sheepman in Australia.

Provided lambs are born strong, which means their mothers must have eaten well and exercised for the preceding five months, everything depends on the first 30 minutes of the new setup; that's the Twillery discovery.

There must be enough warmth to keep the lambs from getting chilly inside their soaking wet, tightly curled fleeces.

There must be enough tender loving care from their mothers to get them fed and oriented in their new environment.

And there must be enough security for them and their mothers to get the idea of being together; there must be no excitement.

This new relationship materializes in the first quarter of an hour, or the opportunity is lost forever. Afterward, the chances of lamb survival are increased. So enormously there ceases to be a problem. It makes an amateur — a hobbyist — wonder whether the Australian sheep ranchers really know that for those few minutes after birth a lamb and its mother need as much protection as a new baby and its mother.

Fascinating as it always is to watch a lamb and ewe learn to love each other, I learned long ago the best thing is make sure they are warm, that the mother has cool water and something to eat and then to let them alone.

How it could be arranged to do this with huge flocks under the open sky, at the mercy of bad weather, is more than an Australian rancher could figure out in a century. But speaking as one sheep rancher (laboratory size) to those big operators down under I'd guess they either will find a way to come closer than they are coming now or they will be lucky to hold their mortality rate as low as one in five.

They don't kick gates and snuffle whenever they lose a lamb or they couldn't stand the lambing ordeal. They'd break all their toes and cry their eyes out.

BEHIND THE SIGN

What is the story behind this "For Sale" sign? Is it just a house that's for sale, or is this a tale of happiness or sorrow—of success or defeat?

Let's hope this story has a happy ending! But this isn't a world of make-believe we live in. God made us human beings, not puppets. He has given us minds and bodies, nerves and muscles—and weakness as well as strength.

Maybe the story behind this house is a happy one. Maybe it's a sad one. Regardless, the people who lived here, like all of us, will be able to accept both good fortune and bad if there is yet another house in their lives.

The House of the Lord, the Church, has been built to endure through the ages. Here we will always have a home—during our lives on earth as well as throughout eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Boardman slips Alliance by 5/12 Point in District Meet

Bud Frazier Wins Highs, Lows, 220

Sulea, Davidson, Janovec, Call Qualify for State; 2 Records Fall

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Chiefly on the strength of three firsts from the flying legs of talented Harold "Bud" Frazier, the Boardman Spartans rolled up 34 1-3 points to edge Alliance by a mere 5-12 of a point and win the Class AA District track and field meet held before a large crowd of over 3,500 fans Friday at Salem's Reilly Stadium.

Salem and Niles tied for third place with 18 1-12 points apiece. Four Quakers qualified for the state meet in Columbus May 26-27. They are Rick Sulea who won the pole vault, Ron Janovec who placed fourth in the shot, Don Davidson who tied for first in the high jump, and Herb Call who took a third in the high hurdles.

The other two Columbiana County schools in the meet, East Palestine and Beaver Local, failed to place a man in any of the top four places, thus missing out on a trip to the state meet. This marks the first time in many years that East Palestine failed to qualify anyone for state.

TWO DISTRICT RECORDS were shattered yesterday. Youngstown Ursuline's Joe Housteau, the top scholastic shot put man in the state this year, cut loose with a heave of 57-6 1/2 to erase the old mark of 55-9 set in 1953 by Tony Conkle of East Palestine.

The 235-pound Ursuline strongman broke the old standard on his first try, then came back later to break his own mark. Housteau, who is one of Ohio State University's prize catches for next fall, scored all eight of his school's points yesterday by winning the shot and placing fourth in the discus.

It was in the discus that the other district record was broken. Big Jim Davidson of Alliance heaved the platter 163-11 to nip Carey Brown of Youngstown East who was just two feet away at 161-11. Both Davidson and Brown shattered the old district record with plenty to spare. The old standard was 158-5 set in 1958 by George Johnson of Warren.

SALEM'S DON DAVIDSON got a bad break in the discus. Big D got off a tremendous heave which unfortunately for him struck the top of the football goal post breaking it off. The throw couldn't be measured so it had to be tossed out. It may not have been long enough to match the throw of Alliance's Davidson but it surely would have bettered the Salem record of 148-5 which Big D set Tuesday in the Canton Relays.

The Salem athlete wound up with 145-6 1/2 as his best throw yesterday. This got him a fifth place behind Housteau who recorded a 148-7.

Salem's Davidson did qualify for state in the high jump by tying Jack Van Campen of Ravenna and Dick Ruscoe of Boardman for first place at 5-10. Nine men, including Clayton Marshall of East Palestine, tied for fourth in the high jump at 5-8.

Besides the three boys who tied for first, Dick Rindfuss of Niles will go to state in the high jump. His name was picked by lot from the nine men who tied for fourth. Defending district champ George Horne of Leavittsburg, who won last year at 6-1 1/2, was one of the nine involved in the tie for fourth yesterday.

RONNIE JANOVEC, still hobbled by a pulled thigh muscle, managed a throw of 47-3 1/4 in the shot which brought him a fourth place and a free ride to Columbus. Janovec was not able to participate in the running events. This hurt the Quakers, particularly in the half mile relay, which Salem didn't even enter.

Rick Sulea came through in the pole vault as expected. The Quaker senior cleared 11-6. He then had the bar raised to 12-4 but missed on three tries at this height. His 11-6 vault was eight inches higher than anyone else went yesterday.

Freddy Harshman of Salem and Robinson of East Palestine were included in a four-way tie for fourth in the pole vault. Allen of Niles was the fourth state qualifier in the vault since he had the least number of misses among the four athletes who tied for fourth.

SALEM'S HERB CALL finished third in the high hurdles behind Frazier of Boardman and Kiker of Rayen. The Quaker co-captain, who had been undefeated in both the high and low hurdles going into yesterday's meet, was feeling under the weather and did not enter the lows.

Frazier's winning time in the highs was 15.3. He and Call both had done better during the regular season.

The Boardman flash was only a half second off the district record in the low hurdles. His winning time was 20 flat.

Frazier completed the triple crown by winning the 220 in 22.4. His smooth form in all three events made his motions look almost effortless and left the impression that he could have moved faster if he had needed to. Meet officials had little difficulty in arriving at their choice of the speedy Spartan as the most valuable player in the meet.

KENT ROOSEVELT'S Errol Prisyb flashed through the 100-yard dash in 10 flat. The 440 went to Nate Hawthorne of Alliance who dashed the quarter mile in 51.9.

Rich Sygar of Niles and Jim Cleary of Cardinal Mooney hooked up in a hot duel in the 880 with Sygar winning by a couple of strides. His winning time was a fast 2:01.6. Sygar took home the Nick Tsaknis Memorial Trophy presented annually by the Campbell Booster Club to the district winner of the 880.

Angus McKennie of Poland copped the mile with his time of 4:38.1. East Palestine's Ronnie Watt placed fifth in this event. Morris Hill of Leavittsburg went 20-5 1/2 in the broad jump to edge out Dick Rindfuss of Niles who went 20-4.

Woodrow Willson's quartet of Brian Trainer, Tom Soblak, Tom Yurich and Bob Shimek won the half mile relay in 1:32.6.

THE WINNER of the meet hinged on the final event, the mile relay. Boardman led 30 1-3 to 27 1/2 over Alliance going into this event. Alliance took first place in the relay with Charlie King, Nate Hawthorne, Glenn Hill and Dick Crowder turning in a 3:31.8. Boardman needed a second place in the mile relay to win the meet and that's just what they got.

Salem led throughout the early part of the meet. Then Alliance took over the top spot until Frazier came through with his clutch victories in the low hurdles and a 220 to pull the Spartans ahead on the next to last event.

The Warren Panthers, who walk away with the 1960 meet by scoring 61 points, dropped all the way to 12th this year with just seven points. Eleven of the 32 schools entered in the meet failed to break into the scoring column. Manager for the district meet was Frederick E. Cope, Salem High athletic director.

Awards and medals were handed out by Diane Dawson, Bonnie Schuster, Rosemarie Shoe, Sarah Fitch, Barb Sanders and Linda Whipkey. Another Salem Senior High School girl selected to hand out awards, Carolyn Gordon, was unable to attend.

Phillies, Cubs Are Winners

Redlegs Shade Braves; Dodgers Beat Giants

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco 8-7 Friday night, shaving the Giants' National League lead to two games while gaining a virtual second place tie with Cincinnati. The Reds defeated Milwaukee 3-2 and Philadelphia dropped Pittsburgh 4-1. Chicago's Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 10 behind the seven-hit pitching of Glen Hobbie.

In the American League, Detroit was idled by cold weather at Boston but regained a five-game lead when Cleveland defeated the second place New York Yankees 9-7. Minnesota dropped Kansas City 11-1, Baltimore defeated Washington 4-2 and the Los Angeles Angels, after losing seven in a row, swept a two-night doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and 5-3.

An infield hit by Maury Wills and a double by Wally Moon gave the Dodgers the deciding run in the ninth inning against losing reliever Billy O'Dell (12). Johnny Roseboro had capped a four-run eighth for the Dodgers, giving them the lead with a three-run homer that made it 7-6.

Starter Juan Marichal blanked the Dodgers on three hits for five innings, then gave up a three-run homer by rookie Willie Davis in the sixth. The Giants bounced back in the seventh when Harvey Kuenn's three-run double broke a 3-3 tie. Kuenn drove in the Giants' last four runs, hitting a solo homer in the ninth off winning reliever Ron Perranoski (2-0).

The Reds, once easy pickin' for the Braves and right-hander Lew Burdette, beat Milwaukee for the fourth time in four tries this season behind the five-hit pitching of Jim O'Toole (4-3).

Jim Woods' first homer of the year broke a 1-1 tie and triggered a two-run fifth inning for the last place Phils, who have won only three of their last 15 games. Pirate right-hander Bob Friend (4-4) lost his fourth in a row. Art Mahaffey (4-3) was the winning pitcher.

The Cubs scored in the first inning on a single and Ernie Banks' two-out pop up that dropped for a double when Card shortstop Daryl Spencer lost it in the sun. Chicago managed just two more hits off southpaw Ray Sadecki (2-3). It was the 10th major league shutout for Hobbie (2-4).

No-Hitter Spun In Class A Loop

Joe Murphy Twirls Gem for Old Dutch

Joe Murphy of Old Dutch launched the 1961 Class A softball season last night at Kelley Park by twirling a no-hit game against Sheely's Appliance and Furniture.

Old Dutch won the game 5-2 as four big errors cost Murphy his shutout. Sheely's picked up 11 earned runs in each the second and seventh innings. Murphy, who last year hurled for Marks Landing, fanned 10 and walked four en route to his no-hitter.

Old Dutch rapped out nine hits, including three singles in four at bats by Headland.

OTHER GAMES last night saw the Spartans trim Mile Branch 5-4; Italian Club blank Bliss 5-0; and Theron's IGA edge the Alliance Amvets 7-5.

Fife pitched the shutout for Italian Club against Bliss. He gave up seven hits and struck out 10. Kyser of Bliss yielded only five hits but his teammates committed five errors behind him.

A three-base hit by Hayes Covert and an error provided the winning run in the fifth for the Spartans against Mile Branch. All five of the Spartans runs were unearned as Mile Branch committed five bobbles. Ron Wyses was the victim of his team's loose fielding support. He gave up just six hits. Jim Hahlen collected three singles in four at bats for the losers.

A TWO-RUN HOMER in the third inning by Cal Rummell provided the margin of victory for Theron's over the Alliance Amvets. Each team collected six hits.

City league teams will be idle now until Monday night when three Class AA games are scheduled.

Penn-Ohio League teams will be playing at Kelley Park tonight. No games are scheduled for Sunday. Here is the Penn - Ohio League card for tonight:

6. Salem Merchants vs Youngstown Local 1331
7:30. Akron Angie's Pizza vs Cuyahoga Falls McGowen-Reid
9. Niles Fenton Street Bar vs Warren Laurel Lanes

The bulk of his earnings this year have come at the expense of Crozier, who will be taking another crack at him. Carry Back beat Crozier in two $100,000 races in Florida and then in the $125,000 Kentucky Derby May 6.

Other colts in the race are Dr. Miller, Sherluck, Globemaster, Hitting Away, Crimson Fury, Nashua Blue and Orleans Doge.

When the betting is over, the fans are expected to make Carry Back close to an even money favorite with Crozier second choice. After that, there will be a lot of nail biting over whether to put down a deuce on Globemaster, Sherluck or Dr. Miller.

Starting time is 4:45 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. There will be television and radio broadcast (CBS).

Salem Golfers 5th In Tourney

Salem High's entry in the district golf tournament at Hubbard yesterday came in a surprisingly strong fifth with a total score of 332. A total of 30 schools participated.

Dave Schuster led the way for the Quakers with a fine 40-37-77. Other Salem scores were as follows: Dick Huffman, 48-46-94; Larry Sommers, 39-40-79; and Gene Sommers, 43-39-82.

All four of these golfers are members of the intramural league at the Senior High School, conducted by J. Robert Miller, physical education director.

Niles McKinley won the district title with Brookfield finishing in the runner-up spot. One of the members of the winning Niles team, John Smith, is the son of Salem Superintendent of Schools Paul Smith. He shot a 38-40-78. The Red Dragons' winning score was 310.

Tourney medalist was Ron Kurtz, 18-year-old senior who posted a sizzling two-under-par 69 with rounds of 35 and 34.

Salem has two more dual meets scheduled, including one on Monday against Warren Harding.

Fairfield-Waterford Edged Out

McDonald Wins Inter-County Meet

Fairfield-Waterford was unable to come up with an entry in the pole vault and it may have cost them the Inter-County League track and field championship.

Host McDonald won the crown yesterday with 58 points, just one and a half more than the 56 1/2 markers compiled by Fairfield-Waterford. Lowellville was third with 38 1/2 points, North Lima fourth with 33 1/2. Greenford fifth with 30 1/2 and Western Reserve last with 6.

McDonald won the meet when Ed Dolsak tied Jim Reedy of Lowellville for first place in the pole vault. There were only four places scored in this event since Fairfield-Waterford did not have an entry.

AS IT WAS, the Rebels made a surprisingly strong showing, taking three firsts and beating out four other schools in the final standing.

Mike Pahanish upset Greenford's stylish sophomore, Dave Tyo, in the 120-yard high hurdles. His time was 17.4. Tom Messenger of the Rebels copped the 440 in 54.8. Fairfield-Waterford's other first came in the shot put where Ray Brown got off a fine heave of 46-9 1/2. Messenger came through with a second in this event.

Voted most valuable player in the meet was Lowellville's Bob Pratt who won the 100, 220 and discus and tied for third in the high jump. His clocking of 23.2 in the 220 was a new Inter-County League record. Pratt has now been named most valuable player in three major meets this year—the Mahoning County Class A meet, the Class A district meet at Salem and the Inter - County meet.

GREENFORD'S Kenny Wellendorf tied a meet record in the 180-yard low hurdles which he ran in 22 flat.

North Lima came through with victories in both relays. Al Thornton, Don Work, Tim Hill and Roger Cooley ran the half mile relay in 1:38.7. Thornton, Work and Hill came back with Ronnie Weaver to cop the mile relay in 3:46.7.

Weaver brought the Zips a first in the half mile run with his clocking of 2:09.8.

Indians Bang Out 15 Hits

Tribe's Five In 8th Bury Yankees 9-7

CLEVELAND (AP)—"When you can't win with seven runs, you're in trouble," said New York manager Ralph Houk, a man who knows what he's talking about.

"We just couldn't get 'em out," repeated Houk as he sadly reviewed the eighth inning Friday night when Cleveland scored five runs and ran off with a 9-7 triumph over the defending American League champs. It was Cleveland's first victory over New York since last July, a span during which the Yankees had won 11 straight.

The eighth inning—the Indians got five straight hits, two walks, a gift of two errors on pop fouls on a single batter, a hit batsman which forced in the lead run and a steal of home by Vic Power—was enough to add gray hairs to Houk's head.

The Yankees looked like the Yankees in the early part of the game, especially their hitting.

MERCHANTS AT NEGLEY

The Salem Merchants of the County-City Baseball League will be on the road Sunday to meet Negley in a 2 p.m. game. The Salem team has a one and one record.

Program Expanded

Hot Stove Leagues Open Season Sunday

The Salem Junior Baseball Leagues will kick off their 1961 season Sunday with preview games at Centennial and Memorial Parks.

Each team will play abbreviated two-inning games. Starting time at each park will be 1:45 p.m. Mayor Dean Cranmer will throw out the first ball at Centennial Park for the Class G league.

This year's Salem Hot Stove Program will be the largest ever. There will be eight teams in Class H (ages 8 to 9), 10 teams in Class G (ages 10 to 12), eight teams in Class F (ages 12 to 14) and 10 teams in Class E (ages 14 to 16).

TEAMS FROM COLUMBIANA, Leetonia and Greenford will play in the local Class E league. "If we had not taken these teams in to our league, the boys in these communities would not have had a chance to play in a league," commented John Herman, Jr., president of the SJBL.

Games with the Columbiana, Leetonia and Greenford teams will be played on a home-and-home basis.

Several other new teams will appear on the local diamonds this year. In Class E, new teams will be Bliss, Famous Market and Salem VFW. Class G will have a team sponsored by the Lions Club. New clubs in Class F will be Toar's Wrestlers and Ailes Insurance Agency.

THE REGULAR SEASON is slated to begin on Monday night. Playing sites will be as follows: American Legion team — Centennial Park; Class E—Centennial; Class F—Memorial; Class G — Centennial and Salem Senior High School Field; Class H — Reilly Field and Prospect School Field.

The Salem Board of Education has granted permission to the Leagues for use of the school fields.

Officials of the SJBL have adopted a new policy for all teams in Classes E through H. After the official number of innings have been completed, an extra two innings will be played at which time all players who did not get a chance to play during the regular games will be inserted into the lineup.

IT IS THE FEELING of league officials that this program will help improve the teams and give each boy a chance to play under regular game conditions.

The Salem Umpires Association will handle all officiating of games this year.

All Hot Stove League players must have a physical examination before they are permitted to play baseball.

Leetonia Wrestling Card Starts at 8:30

The professional wrestling show at Leetonia High School will get under way at 8:30.

Promoter Frank "Toar" Julian of Salem reports that Bob Ford of Poland, O., has been added to the card which will include a four-girl tag team affair, three pro bouts and three amateur matches. Julian will wrestle in one of the pro bouts.

Algeria

cem, and the French minister for Algerian affairs, Louis Joxe. Krim and his delegation arrived aboard three helicopters from across Lake Lemana in neutral Switzerland.

Joxe drove up in a black limousine, preceded by another carrying Jean Verdier, director of France's "Surete" and the nation's top policeman.

Both the rebel delegation and the French were serious faced and reserved as they arrived. The only hopeful note was the wave and faint smile of rebel delegate Taib Boulouarf as his helicopter circled over a group of newsmen.

The rebel helicopters carrying Krim's delegation landed on a heavily guarded strip some 300 yards from the Hotel du Parc, where the talks began.

French sources said that the talks opened with Joxe rising to make a long presentation of the French position.

In general, President Charles de Gaulle has instructed Joxe to negotiate for an Algeria that will be fully independent yet linked with France through cultural and economic ties and guarantee the safety of the one million Europeans living in the vast territory.

While both the French and rebels agree in principle that the future of Algeria should be decided through self-determination, there are many major obstacles to putting the principle into practice. One such obstacle is whether or not the oil rich Sahara is to be treated as an integral part of Algeria.

When Krim stepped down from the helicopter it was the first time he had ever touched the soil of metropolitan France.

His delegation from the Algerian government-in-exile commuted across Lake Geneva and the Swiss-French border to discuss on the French delegates' home soil the machinery for ending the years of guerrilla warfare in North Africa.

In Algeria and Paris, city streets were noisy with the bombings and gunfire of both violent European settlers opposed to the peace negotiations and Algerian rebels agitating against the French.

Nearly 30,000 troops and riot police guarded the port city of Algiers after a night of violence in which 23 bombs and grenades exploded.

The only reported casualties were two passersby injured by a grenade hurled in the streets of Bab-el-Oued, Algiers' worker section.

To the west, the city of Oran was reported quiet in the wake of a savage battle in the center of the city Friday night. Troops and police fought European settlers protesting against the opening of the peace talks.

Business in Algiers, usual storm center of European resistance to President Charles de Gaulle's policy for Algeria, was normal as dawn broke bright and sunny.

But downtown Algiers was a huge traffic jam as security forces searched automobiles and checked the identity of drivers. Parking was forbidden on the big main thoroughfare so that riot squads could move swiftly if violence broke out.

European settlers—angered because Switzerland is the host to the Algerian rebel peace delegation—invaded the Swiss consul's office in Oran Friday night and burned his files.

Heavily armed French troops broke up the mob after the rifle butts and tear-gas grenades of demonstrators' stones, bricks and police could not cope with the debris.

Business

steel production would rise in each quarter of this year and through the first half of 1962.

The industry expected to show its 10th consecutive weekly increase. In the previous week the output was 1,988,000 tons, about 68 per cent of capacity.

An increase in orders and shipments has caused Republic Steel to recall 2,500 employees to its Cleveland plant since the first of the year.

The stock market shot up to historic highs during a week in which developments in the financial world came thick and fast.

Korea

Korea's defenses against the Communist North it undermined the authority the U. N. command has exercised since the start of the Korean War in 1950.

The new military regime decreed strict anti-Communist measures, saying increased activities of the Communists and their sympathizers brought "clear and present danger to the nation's security."

Any Communist activity is outlawed in South Korea. The new measures are similar to those vainly sought by the ousted government and led to protest demonstrations.

Tightening its grip on the capitol, the junta fired elderly Seoul Mayor Kim Sang-don, replacing him with Brig. Gen. Yoon Tai-il, one of the five engineers of the coup.

Two days ago Yoon had been named commander of the front-line South Korean 9th Army.

Seven of ex-Premier Chang's cabinet ministers plus the chief cabinet secretary were picked up by MP's just before midnight and taken to prison.

JFK

The Paris fiasco ushered in a period of intense bitterness in U.S.-Soviet relations, but Khrushchev was careful to specify that his anger was directed mainly against Eisenhower as president and that he would not carry it over in his dealings with Eisenhower's successor. He canceled his invitation to Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union but spoke of inviting the next U. S. president.

When Kennedy was elected, Khrushchev switched tactics in his dealings with the new American leader even though conflicts between the Soviet Union and the United States over such issues as Laos, Cuba and the United Nations continued. heaval would liberate them. They knew that the abortive April invasion had destroyed a well-organized underground poised with smuggled arms to strike the minute an invasion came.

"They didn't tell us," bitterly cried one underground movement man in prison. "They ruined us and months and months of work, money and material are gone just because they didn't tell us they were coming. What's wrong with your people?"

La Cabana appeared populated by the top-ranking people of the nation. There were no less than 25 doctors—some hemisphere-reknowned specialists—in our prison, but hardly any aspirin to ease a common cold. A well-known Havana lawyer died of pneumonia May 10 despite repeated calls on the prison commandant that a man was seriously ill in a cell. But his death served to call attention to our plight. The next day aspirin and some penicillin were available to combat an epidemic of influenza that was still raging when I left the prison.

The lawyer who died—Dr. Enrique Guiralt—was among countless thousands rounded up starting April 15 in what possibly was the biggest detention of human beings in hemisphere history. The exact figure of prisoners may never be known. Estimates ranged upwards of a quarter million.

A civilian engaged by secret police to count prisoners in the area of headquarters, told us privately he had often heard the figure of "over 147,500" detainees in Havana alone.

when he said the Cuban navy had evidence that a launch that disappeared May 6 with a loss of 17 lives had been sunk by "a submarine of the Central Intelligence Agency."

"It is, of course, difficult to prove, but our conclusion was that our vessel was sunk by a penetrating torpedo," Castro said.

He added that prior to the disappearance of the launch—the R43—the navy had received an SOS saying, "They sank us, they sank us."

After repeating his proposal to trade prisoners for bulldozers "as compensation for the damage caused by the invasion forces," Castro asked his audience whether he had its approval. The crowd cheered noisily.

Castro also offered to trade the leader of the invasion forces—Capt. Manuel Artime—for Francisco (The Hook) Molina, a Cuban now awaiting sentence in New York City on a second degree murder conviction.

Molina was convicted of slaying 9-year-old Magdalena Urdaneta of Venezuela during a gun-battle between pro and anti-Castro elements in a Manhattan restaurant.

The Molina case has been widely played up in Cuba as a politically inspired judicial decision based on U. S. hatred of Castro.
